of a nervous breakdown from overwork, but even so is in better

Bell Presses
Battle for Rate Slash

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. today pressed its fight against an Arkansas Public Service Commission claim that the utility is making too much money in Arkansas.

Bell planned to call more witnesses to defend its rates at a commission hearing which started yesterday.

The PSC has ordered the telephone company to show cause why its Arkansas rates should not be chopped by some three million dollars a year. This was met by a Bell request for a $425,000 year cost in its fringe rates.

The company contended yesterday that the PSC took an unreasonable attitude toward its rate structure.

Under a 1953 rate schedule, Bell said, it has lost millions of dollars because of changes in economic conditions.

Edward L. Wright, a Bell attorney, said the six per cent rate of return the PSC allowed Bell in 1953 was inadequate then and "in view of the inflation of the dollar it is far from adequate today."

Voters in Six Towns Approve
Bond Issues

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Voters in six Arkansas cities and towns were favorably inclined toward bond issues yesterday.

Bond issues for civic improvements won approval at Rogers and Springdale and issues for building natural gas systems were okayed in elections at Glenwood, Mount Ida, Norman and Anady.

The turnout was light at Rogers, where a $116,500 issue passed 26 to 143. Funds will be used to improve the municipal airport, buy a 30-acre site for a city park and relocate some fire department buildings.

Springdale voters approved by wide margins a proposal to finance construction of a new city hall and youth center and refund some swimming pool bonds as required under tax levy limits. The bond issue was for $460,000.

Voting on retiring the bonds was 413 to 103, on the city hall 419 to 100 and on the youth center 399 to 117.

The four towns which voted on the gas system bond issues are in Southwest Arkansas. Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. will operate the system and will repay the bond issues.

Troubled Long
Campaigns for Re-election

COVINGTON, La. (AP)—Louisiana politicians hurried today into this place to see where Gov.
Earl K. Long—beset by divorce, income tax and health problems
—is busy running for re-election.

They moved in and out of his motel room like worker ants, some on the business of running state government, some seeking a spot on the Long ticket, others merely expressing friendship.

The parade of politicians formed part of one of the strangest rest cures in history. Gov. Long, 63 and ill, made scores of telephone calls as visitors came and went.

Although physicians say Gov.
Long has suffered a series of mild strokes, Louisiana's chief executive continued his mad pace after midnight. A few minutes after state police set up an oxygen tank in his room, Gov. Long bellowed so loud during a telephone talk he could be heard outside his room.

Long himself ordered the oxygen. His doctor was out calling.
The governor has an asthmatic condition that is helped by oxygen.

Forty minutes after midnight,
Gov. Long climbed into his limousine for a five-mile drive to an all-night restaurant.

"Turn on the air," he told his driver, who flipped on the air conditioning.

Gov. Long apparently still toyed with the idea of going either to Tucson or Phoenix, Ariz., for two weeks. It seemed certain there would be no rest if he stays home.

This would make 14. Gov.
Luther Frazier acting governor.

On May 30, mental hospital orders and some politicians lashed Long to a stretcher and flew him
to John Seely Hospital in Galveston, Tex.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's choice—Henrich Luebke — looks like a sure winner.

Despite Communist protests, the 1,033-member Electoral College

Luebke, 64, Adenauer's agriculture minister for six years, was opposed by Socialist Carlo Schmid, 62, a popular writer-scholar, and Max Becker, 71, of the liberal Free Democratic party.

Luebke, little known outside farming and political circles, was a last-minute choice of the ruling

Adenauer's insistence. A threatened revolt among the party rank and file against the chancellor's dictatorship faded as the voting time approached.

Oil Firm Is

El Dorado

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Pickets were stationed around the El Dorado firms, Lion Oil Co. re-today as a strike of 373 members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union started.

Another 120 plant workers were idled by the walkout.

Labor disputes faced two other
El Dorado firms, Lion Oil Co. refinery and Monsanto Chemical Co.
Lion is a division of Monsanto.

The strike at American began at midnight last night when the union contract expired. It followed a negotiation session.

H. A. Heis, company manager, said the company had offered to extend the contract for a year,
"with improvements."

The union objected to what it said was the contracting of certain work formerly done by refinery employees. Both sides agreed that wages were not an issue.

Members of local 381 of the International Union of Operating Engineers will take a vote Friday on whether to strike the Lion Refinery, Maynard White, local president said. Wages and other matters are at issue, White said.

About 280 union members work at Lion.

Meanwhile, OCAW members at the Monsanto plant met last night to discuss company proposals in regard to wages, but union officials declined to reveal what action was taken, if any. About 375 workers are involved.

United Phone Rate
Boosted by PSC

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A new Public Service Commission order boosts rates for Arkansas customers of United Telephone Co. of Kansas City, Mo., by $38,220 a year.

The PSC granted the increase yesterday. It is effective today.

United had asked for $47,942 annual hike, contending it needed that much to earn a fair rate of return on its Arkansas investment.

The PSC trimmed the amount after compiling the investment at a lower figure.

United customers will pay from 5 cents to $1.50 more a month.
The increase will earn for the firm a return of between 6 and 8 1/2 percent a year, the commission said.

The company has exchanges at Trumann, Siloam Springs, Bay,
Black Oak, Caraway, Holly Grove, Lake City, Leachville, Manila and

Says Hays to Be Candidate
for Governor

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—
Will former Arkansas congressman Brooks Hays be a candidate against Gov. Orval E. Faubus in Arkansas' gubernatorial election next year?

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram
yesterday quoted a reliable source as saying there was a definite possibility Hays would run.

Hays, in Fort Worth to speak at a church gathering at Texas Christian University, declined comment. He only said that he was through as a congressman.

Faubus could not be reached for comment at Little Rock. He has not indicated whether he will seek a fourth term in 1960.

Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark) de-fected Hays in last November's general election. Hays had represented Arkansas' Fifth Congressional District for 16 years.

Alford, a staunch segregationist, was an eleventh hour candidate and assailed Hays as too moderate on the racial issue.

The Alford-Hays election is currently being studied by a congressional committee.

The source told the Star-Telegram Hays' friends were organizing to promote his candidacy for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, tantamount to election.

According to the source, the outcome of the congressional prob-could influence Hays' decision.

Hays takes office in Knoxville, Tenn., today as a director of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Last week the Senate confirmed his appointment to the board to fill a one-year unexpired term. This term would be ended in time for Hays to enter the gubernatorial race.

President to

Eisenhower told his news con-

In response to questions, Eisen-

Pilot Is Not

Okinawa Crash

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—The pilot of a U.S. jet fighter that crashed into an Okinawan schoolhouse Tuesday did everything humanly possible to prevent his burning plane from falling into an inhabited area, the Air Force said today.

The crippled F100 Super Sabre jet crashed in flames in the little Okinawa city of Ishikawa, killing 16 persons, wounding 112 and making more than 200 homeless.

The pilot, Capt. John G. Schmitt
Jr., of Chalmers, Ind., parachuted to safety. Brig. Gen. Dale O.
Smith, commander of the 33rd Air Division, said Schmitt could not have brought the plane under control even if he had remained with it.

With 19 of the injured in critical condition, there was a possibility that there would be more deaths.

It was one of the Air Force's worst air disasters in the Far East since World War II.

The Air Force said that 10 of the dead and 102 of the injured were pupils of the primary school the plane struck in its fiery fall.
After hitting a corner of the school, the disintegrating plane leapfrogged over a 10-block resi-

Faubus Will

Closing Ruling

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov.
Orval E. Faubus today said he would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court from a ruling which nullified the law he used to keep Little Rock public high schools closed after integration last term.

Faubus previously had not committed himself to a previous apa three-judge federal court in Arkansas that the law was unconstitutional.

He said today that the appeal would be argued by his attorneys, who would be filed the appeal.

The appeal would be argued by a committee of three judges. The court would hear the case in October. This is a final law court decision. Faubus would have to wait until the Supreme Court decided whether to grant a writ of certiorari, which would allow the case to be heard by the Supreme Court.

Steel Industry
Wildcat Strikes
Head the List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A rash of strikes involving thousands of workers, mainly in the steel, aircraft, chemical and electrical industries, broke out over the nation today.

Wildcat strikes erupted in the steel industry as negotiators resumed meetings in the New York in an effort to agree on a new contract between the major steel companies and the United Steelworkers Union.

The steel union ordered an immediate end to these walkouts.
Walkouts in the steel industry included these:

In Aliquippa, Pa., pickets kept about 13,000 production workers away from their jobs at the Jones
Laughlin Steel Corp. plant.
Plant and union officials said the strike was unauthorized. Pickets carried placards proclaiming, "No Contract—No Work."

Contracts covering the basic steel industry expired Tuesday midnight but union and company negotiators working on a national contract agreed earlier to extend the agreements to July 14.

Union and industry negotiators on Saturday bowed to a plea from President Eisenhower that the current contract, due to expire Tuesday midnight, be extended two weeks for further negotiations.

The union president, David J. McDonald, is here heading the union's four-man team seeking to negotiate a new contract with the nation's major steel producers.

"The international union has taken prompt and vigorous action to honor the extension agreement with the various steel companies," he said.

Telegrams have been dispatched, signed by the international officers, directing immediate withdrawal of all unauthorized picket lines and resumption of operations.

McDonald's action came with local union officials already at the gates of some struck plants urging union members to resume work.

McDonald expressed confidence that the union's strike-ending orders "will rectify the situation."

Talks between the 12 largest steel companies and the union were being resumed today after a weekend recess. Two negotiating sessions were scheduled daily in place of the single meetings held in previous weeks.

The discussions have been virtually stalemated. The industry maintains that any new contract should not involve an increase in total employment costs. Union demands include a substantial cost in wages averaging $3.10 an hour in April.

No Conclusions in Pollution Hearing

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A probe by the state Water Pollution Control Commission into killing of fish in the Ouachita River ended in "no conclusions" yesterday.

The commission also expanded an order to oil well operators to quit dumping salt water into Arkansas streams.

M. L. Wood, commission director, told said the fish deaths may have been caused by disposal of waste by the International Paper Co. at Camden. But he said yesterday there appeared to be "a number of factors" involved, including the fact that the river had been at flood stage, hot weather, etc.

The commission ordered international to proceed with installation of a $990,000 waste treatment system, which is expected to go into operation early in July.

It was voted to order all oil producers—taking in those not Pickets kept some 13,000 union members from reporting for work on the 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. shift. Some pickets carried placards saying: "No contract—no work."

Both union and company officials termed the strike a wildcat affair.

Springdale to Vote on a Bond Issue

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP)—A $460,000 proposal to issue bonds for a new city hall and youth center and to refund swimming pool bonds was voted on today by Springdale residents.

The city hall, if constructed, would be the first municipal building erected especially for that purpose.

Of the total $460,000 in new bonds, 110,000 would be for refunding pool bonds; $225,000 for the city hall and $125,000 for the youth center.

City Clerk Mrs. Letta Braggion said a five-vote margin for bonds forced the refunding of pool bonds.

The teacher called police and the girl fled, officers said. She ran to a grocery store parking lot and commandeered the car of a startled female employee.

The girl drove off and sheriff's deputies and State Police started after her. She lost them near Centerville, on state Highway 7, in night club yesterday.

U. S. Seeking to Halt Negro Vote Purge

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A Justice Department suit on file in U.S. District Court here seeks to halt the purge of Negro voters in Washington Parish.

The parish is in southeastern Louisiana, about 50 miles north of New Orleans.

The suit, filed Monday, names as defendants the White Citizens Council of Washington Parish; members Diaz D. McEleven, E. Ray McEleven, Saxon Farmer, Eugene Farmer; and the parish registrar of voters, Curtis M. Thomas.

Under Louisiana law, any two bonafide voters may challenge the right of another registered voter.

The government said that during the past seven months there were 1,377 affidavits filed challenging Negro voters in Washington Parish and that the Negro registration was reduced from 1,517 to 236. The petition said in the same period only 10 affidavits have been filed questioning the voting rights of white persons.

The suit, seeking against discrimination, has not been set for trial.

The complaint said the affidavits almost all were based on technical deficiencies such as petty deviations from instructions, failure to file questioning the voting rights.

Mrs. Bob Massingill Honored
With Pink and Blue Shower
The Dorens Class of the Garrett Memorial Baptist Church honored Mrs. Bob Massingill with a pink and blue shower Monday night, June 29, in the fair park bandstand. A lovely arrangement of pink and blue summer flowers centered the serving table overlaid with a lace cloth. An entertaining game session was conducted by Mrs. Ray Thornton after which the honoree was presented with a bassinet of lovely gifts. The gifts were then opened and displayed. Cookies and punch were served to those present with Mrs. Jack Watkins presiding at the punch bowl.

Duplicate Bridge Club
Met at Diamond Cafe
There were four tables of players when the Duplicate Bridge Club met on June 29, at the Diamond Cafe. Only one out-of-town player, Mrs. Tully Henry of Saratoga, joined the local club for the evening. The first place couple were Mrs. R. L. Broach and Mrs. John Hatley. In second place were Miss Elizabeth Bridwell and Luther Hollamon, while Mrs. Marie Hendrix and Mrs. A. K. Holloway were third.

Mrs. Whitworth Entertains
Tuesday Bridge Club
A mixed bouquet and an arrangement of roses were used by Mrs. H. C. Whitworth to decorate her home June 30, when she entertained her Tuesday Bridge Club. Of the two tables of club members Mrs. Tom Wardlaw was the high scorer and the game prize was won by Mrs. K. G. Hamilton. For refreshments the hostess served ice cream and cookies.

Says Nixon Called Him a Damned Liar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Earl Mazon, writer of a book about Vice President Richard M. Nixon, said today that Chief Justice Earl Warren had called him a "damned liar."

Mazon confirmed reports that Warren, in a personal exchange at a cocktail party, had taken angry exception to parts of Mazon's book. Warren was reported to feel that the book promoted Nixon's expense.

Warren had no comment. Mazon said the whole affair was really "just a misunderstanding because he hadn't read the book." The writer said that after things cooled down he and Warren had a long talk and parted good friends with a cordial invitation from Warren to visit him.

DOROTHY DIX

Meddler Muddles Gal's Housework

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a working widow with a seven-year-old daughter. We live in a small apartment of a two-family house. Saturday is my day off and the time for all my housekeeping and laundry. My landlady's daughter, who is six years older than mine, has a habit of coming up to my place ostensibly to play with my child. However, she ignores the girl and talks to me. She offers me advice, corrects my housekeeping methods, raids the icebox and has even brought her friends up here to inspect the premises. She absolutely ignores my hints that her presence is unwelcome. Her mother is very nice and, since the apartment suits me perfectly, I'd hate to create trouble. How can I handle the situation without hurting anyone—Mrs. L. P.

Dear Mrs. L. P.: Treat your young nuisance as you would an older one. Give her something to do and, believe me, she'll get. Saturday ask her to help with the ironing, to run the vacuum, or to put a coat of wax on the kitchen floor. She certainly won't have the urge to work. I doubt if she will have the nerve to refuse, so all she can do is make herself scarce. Hand any time-wasting neighbor a pan of potatoes to peel and she'll suddenly remember something to be done in her own house.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm the most miserable girl in the world when I should be the happiest. I met a real nice guy a few months ago. I know he's a good man because he speaks well of his parents—but he is always criticizing my folks. He is gradually tearing me away from my family. He has asked me to marry him but wants me to turn over my bankbook to him so he can make a down payment on a house. I sacrificed a lot to save this doesn't have a few brides today. Chances are that Soviet Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov, who is due here late today, could match Eisenhower one black and blue spot for another. However, the Kremlin official seemed to have a good time, too.

It all happened Monday in the New York City Coliseum, where Eisenhower met Kozlov for an hour-long official tour of the Soviet Union's scientific and cultural exhibit.

"I think it is a very, very admirable exhibit," Eisenhower said as he completed his visit. "I think it is lovely."

But during their tour, the two men were propelled — pushed, jostled, shoved — around the big exposition hall as the crowds of spectators and newsmen crushed in from all sides.

Any girl who would allow a man to tear her away from a fine family is, in plain language, a fool. Your heart is weak but your head is weaker.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Two years ago, when I was 16, I visited a summer resort where I met Don, whose home was there. We fell in love, corresponded after we parted, and made plans to be married when I would be 18. He constantly promised to visit my home town but always postponed the trip. Finally, after six months, he stopped writing and, though I sent many letters asking for an explanation, that was the last I heard of him. I'm still in love with him. I expect to visit the same resort this summer. How should I act if I see him—Ruth.

Dear Ruth: As casual as possible. Don carried a casual flirtation too far, panicked and stopped writing. He may be married or engaged to another girl by now. Don't waste time carrying a torch.

Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper.

Moscow Plans to Speed Up Industry

MOSCOW (AP)—The Central Committee today put before the Soviet people a master plan to cut corners in the race with the United States for industrial supremacy.

The plan, adopted at a five-day meeting of the committee at which Premier Nikita Khrushchev made the main speech, was spread over 312 pages of the Communist party paper Pravda, and the government paper Izvestia.

It calls for wide-spread automation in industrial plants, retooling and mass mobilization of scientific and engineering experts.

It also calls for tightened central control by the party and government to assure a uniform industrial advance on a broad front to achieve goals of the seven-year economic plan.

The seven-year plan aims at surpassing the United States, but one industrial expert, Averski B. Aristov, frankly told the committee the task of modernizing is too big to be accomplished in the seven-year plan.

The five-day session at the Kremlin disclosed that Soviet industry is modernized in some fields and badly out of date in others.

Mr. and Mrs. Hansel Herring and Mrs. Charlie Scott accompanied Miss Mary Jewelle Herring to West Monroe, La., on Sunday where she will spend this week with Miss Margaret Hunter Scott on Friday they will leave for a vacation on the west coast.

Mrs. J. V. Fore and Mrs. W. P. Cummings spent Thursday in Malvern with their sister, Mrs. Tom Ross Young, and family.

Miss Mildred Dickinson, Mrs. Bess Dadds and Mrs. Jewell Moore were the Friday guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Durham.

Friends of Rev. J. H. Robertson, son and his children, Pam and Mike will regret that they suffered injuries in an automobile accident on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Cook announced the marriage of their daughter, Wanda Hester, to Sherry Haynie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Haynie, of Prescott.

The wedding was celebrated in the chapel of the First Methodist Church by the Rev. J. W. Dunlap.

Both are high graduates of Prescott High School and attend Southern State College.

The couple will live in Little Rock where Mr. Haynie is employed by Egan Electric Company.

THE VIOLET MIND

a suspense story by NORMAN DANIELS

THE STORY: Casey Paige has rented a home on the seashore in which his wife is living while he commutes to his law office in Boston. His wife Diane is recovering from a temporary mental illness, due partly to the loss of their child.

When Diane Paige awakened after the operation, all remembrance of those awful moments were no part of her. She remembered

MOBSTER
THE LIFE OF A

The child came walking out of her sea as if it were the most natural thing in the world to do.

nothing. She was quite sane and whole, and able to listen to a toned-down recital of what had happened. She didn't understand it, and, at first, she didn't even cry, because the whole thing was so unreal. After she was able to assimilate and weigh the facts, she cried for the baby she never had. And for the ones she would never have.

Now walking along the beach, she felt perfectly sound and complete in body and mind. She was enough of a woman to accept what had happened and realized the only thing she could do, was go right on living and make the best of life possible for Casey and herself. It was enough of an ambition, and she was happy that she had at last been permitted to begin this new life.

She saw the little girl quite by accident. If she'd been deeper in thought and heedless of her surroundings, or the sun had been in her eyes, perhaps she wouldn't have noticed the child at all. Because most certainly she would not have been looking out to sea with the expectation of seeing anyone, particularly a small girl in the water.

For a few apprehensive moments, Diane had the awful thought that she had suddenly regressed into the world of fancy she'd escaped from, such a short time ago. She wanted to run away, because what she saw couldn't actually be real, until she over-shadowed her fears with a full measure of common sense.

That certainly was a child walking out of the ocean. A little girl fully clad in a blue dress, with an open white coat over it and wearing a drenched and shapeless hat. As she waded closer, Diane saw that she also wore ankle socks and strap shoes.

She came walking out of the measureless sea as if it were the most natural thing in the world to do, and the usually swirling, racing water seemed to have enfolded the game by growing mild and gentle. If there'd been sea weed draped about her shoulders, and if she had flippers instead of legs, Diane would have been no more astonished.

Diane waded out into the water quickly. It was surprisingly warm. The little girl stopped. The sea lapped about her knees now, but it would recede in a moment. Diane estimated she was not more than five, but breathtakingly beautiful. She was plump and healthy looking. Her hair, when dried, would be a honey blond. She had a well-shaped, round little face and a small, baby-lipped mouth.

Everything about her was immature and childish, except the eyes. They were deep blue in color, very wide, and glittering with the wild lights of terror. That fear predominated everything else.

Diane picked her up. Instantly, the child began to scream and squirm and kick, until Diane set her down on the dry beach, away from the water's edge. She quieted down immediately and stood looking up at Diane, reminding her of an injured and helpless animal, tamed only by the need for help.

Sad Sam Hurls One-Hit Bums, Giants Climb

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

They call him Sad Sam Jones and he stood with head bowed, hands on his knees, when the "hit" bid for a second major league no-hitter with two out in the eighth. An infield bouncer by Junior Gilliam, credited with a colorful single, was the only hit Los Angeles managed against the big right-hander Tuesday night as he pitched San Francisco to a 2-0 victory over the Dodgers with the help of Willie Mays' two-run homer.

It was the second "near-miss" stab at a no-hitter this season by Jones, now 9-8 who had to settle for the first one-hitter of his career while the Giants closed within a half-game of the National League lead.

Some of the 39,312 fans in the Los Angeles Coliseum booed the pitcher's decision on the bouncing ball, which cleared Jones' head and rolled toward second base. If upstop Andre Rodgers picked the ball, it would have been a no-hitter. Jones' comment: "Can you imagine anyone calling that a hit? They don't want no-hitters thrown around here."

Cincinnati whipped first-place Milwaukee 8-5 on three home runs. Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia 4-1, and St. Louis beat Chicago's Cubs 4-1.

In the American League, Cleveland took a two-game lead by defeating Boston 6-1.

Apparently, there was not, Diane made up her mind because she was worried about the trembling child. She reached down, clasped the child's hand in her own. Instantly, the little girl let her go and ran toward the water with all her strength, to get free. Diane let go. The child stepped back, looking at her solemnly.

"Can't you talk, darling?" Diane asked. The girl made no response. "You don't want me to take you by the hand or to hold you, is that it. Why are you're just like some animal from the forest long as I didn't try to imprison it in my hands. I've got to take you home with me, darling, so we can dry you off. Will you come?"

The child made no move to go. Diane could almost feel the adult fear within the child, shining out of her eyes. Once more, Diane desperately scanned the sea and the shore. Then she began to walk, slowly, tentatively. The little girl followed her, finally ran to catch up and walk beside her.

"Well," Diane said, "that's fine. Would you like to take my hand now?" She held out her hand, careful not to touch the child. The little girl shied off quickly and stopped.

"All right," Diane said, "I won't take your hand or hold you. Just walk beside me and be careful of the rocks, further down the beach."

A little later, Diane pointed toward the cottage. "That's where I live. Do you live around here?" A small head tilted back, enormous eyes looked up at her, the small mouth quivered, but not a sound came from her.

Diane led the way to the gate, opened it and let the child go in. She braced herself for trouble when the gate closed, for the fence might give the child the sensation of restraint, much as holding her, or taking her by the hand. But the child didn't notice and trotted contentedly beside Diane, up onto the porch and then into the house.

Hoyt Drops 3rd in Row, This Time to Yanks

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If you don't think Hoyt Wilhelm is having trouble these days, consider this: Even the New York Yankees can beat him now.

The knuckleballing right-hander considered the choice as the American League's starting pitcher in next Tuesday's All-Star game at Pittsburgh, was the league's unbeatn ace after his first nine decisions. But he hasn't won since, losing his third in a row Tuesday night as the Yankees rapped third-place Baltimore 4-1.

And if you don't think rapped is apt for a four-run scoring sport, you may have forgotten that the Yankees had managed only four earned runs off Wilhelm in 59 2/3 innings before Tuesday night. Fact is, this is the first time the Yankees have beaten Wilhelm in five decisions since he became an Oriole last year.

The victory left the Yankees in a fourth-place tie with the Detroit Tigers, who beat Kansas City 1-0 and four games behind Cleveland. The first-place Indians gained a two-game lead by defeating Chicago's second-place White Sox 3-1. Washington beat last-place Boston 6-1.

In the National League, Sam Jones pitched a one-hitter as second-place San Francisco beat Los Angeles 2-0 and closed within a half-game of Milwaukee, beaten 6-3 by Cincinnati. Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia 4-3 and St. Louis beat Chicago's Cubs 4-1.

The Yankees, playing without injured Mickey Mantle, got three in the third on a walk and four singles, capped by Yogi Berra's two-run hit. Art Ditmar (7-5) was the winner with 4 1/3 innings of two-hit, shutout relief. Duke Maas started and gave up one Gene Woodling's 10th homer in the fourth inning.

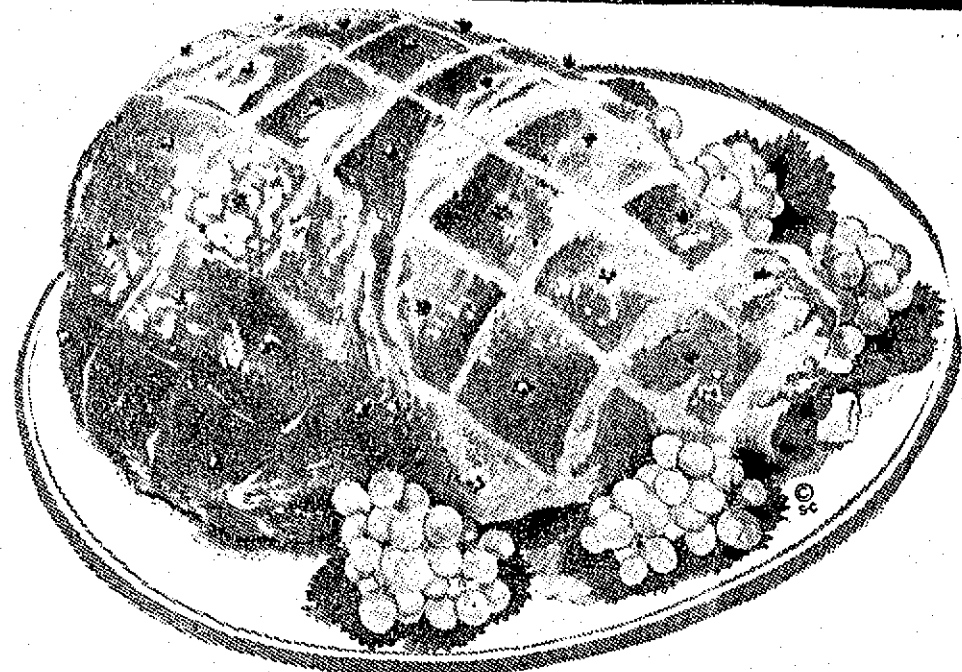

Wilhelm (9-3) allowed eight of the Yankees' nine hits in his seven innings. Winless in his last four starts, he's been tagged for 14 earned runs in 27 2/3 innings over that span for a 4.57 earned run average. Before the slump his ERA was 1.00. Now it's 1.83, still tops in the AL.

Vic Power's two-run, inside-the-park homer in the third and Rocky Colavito's 23rd homer in the sixth backed Cleveland's Cal McLish (9-3), who held the White Sox to four singles and didn't walk a man while winning his fourth straight. Chicago scored in the third with an unearned run on an error, sacrifice and Luis Aparicio's single. Nellie Fox followed with a single, but McLish fanned the next two up.

The Dodgers, third, 1 1/2 games back with their second loss in a row after winning seven straight, put five men on base. Three times the runner was Gilliam, who got both of Jones' walks. The other runners made it on a fielder's choice and an error.

Sad Sam retired 22 of the last 24 he faced, putting down 10 in a sixth, then getting eight straight before the hit. Gilliam reached second in the eighth on a passed ball, but got no farther as Wally Moon fouled out. Jones got the side in order in the ninth, fanning Gil Hodges for his 10th strikeout and the final out.

Jones, 33, pitched his no-hitter against Pittsburgh when he was with the Cubs, May 13, 1955. Last hit until Willie Jones beat out an infield dribbler with two out in the seventh. He finished with a two-out homer by Ed Matthews, run by Burdette (11-7) when an error set up Gus Bell's three-run homer in the third. Vada Pinson pulled it in with a two-run shot in the fourth. Bob Purkey (7-9) was the winner with Orlando Pena's three-hit, shutout relief over the last four innings. The Braves' run came on homers by Ed Matthews, run by Burdette (11-7) when an error set up Gus Bell's three-run homer in the third. Vada Pinson pulled it in with a two-run shot in the fourth.
